Bio

Inspired by life itself, Ben Euerby finds music everywhere in his every day life. Having studied music composition with Leo Award winning composer Don Macdonald at Selkirk College Contemporary Music Program, as well as apprenticing with Michael Neilson of the Screen Composer's Guild of Canada Ben has been actively writing music for media for the last 15 years. Some of his most notable projects are the 9 part TV Documentary series, "Dreamer's and Dissident's" (2015 - Knowledge Network), and the feature length documentary "Defensora" (2012) in which Ben was nominated for an "International Music and Sound Award (UK)". His personal style is unique unto itself blending many genres and musical influences. He is an asset to each project he works on with his personable presence, high degree of work ethic, adaptability, focus, and abundance of creative ideas.
